Masters Programmes The main University Students area on the website provides an overview of the student and graduate opportunities at GE. The company invests about $1 billion a year on training and education programs, which shows their commitment to this area. There are a number of entry-level career programs, however, four are aimed specifically at those with a Master's degree - The Human Resources Leadership Program \(HRLP\), Operations Management Leadership Program \(OMLP\), Commercial Leadership Program and the Edison Engineering Development Program \(EEDP\). GE also runs internships and co-ops across the globe.

How to Apply Apply through your university or online. All open vacancies can be found at Career Search or via the links above.

Key Dates Several graduate positions are currently open. Go to Career Search for details of global openings and make an online application.

International Opportunities Opportunities are available worldwide.

Additional Information GE is a diversified technology, media, and financial services company dedicated to creating products that make life better. From aircraft engines and power generation to financial services, medical imaging, television programming and plastics, GE operates in more than 175 countries and employs more than 295,000 people worldwide. The company traces its beginnings to Thomas A. Edison, who established Edison Electric Light Company in 1878. In 1892, a merger of Edison General Electric Company and Thomson-Houston Electric Company created General Electric Company. GE is the only company listed in the Dow Jones Industrial Index today that was also included in the original index in 1896. For FY2016, GE reported revenues of $123.7 billion.
